

Bear Essentials

Program summary

Bear Essentials is a family support program offered by Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island that assists with the costs of health-related travel and equipment for Island kids and is intended to fill the gaps that exist in public funding. The program is designed for families that struggle to afford the associated costs, or that have barriers limiting their ability to access health care or equipment for their child.

Children/youth must meet all the following criteria:

- ✓ 0 to 19 years old (prenatal up to 20th birthday),
- ✓ live on Vancouver Island or the surrounding islands,
- ✓ have a medical condition, health challenge, or disability confirmed by a health care professional,
- ✓ require financial support to cover the cost of the item(s) in the application, and
- ✓ have not exceeded the lifetime Bear Essentials maximum of $12,500.

Bear Essentials is a program accessed through referral only. A health care professional familiar with the applicant's needs and family circumstances should complete the online application with the consent of the applicant's parent or primary guardian.

Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island prioritizes applications from referring health professionals working within public systems like health authorities, school districts, and community organizations. Examples of health professionals include but are not limited to the following:

- audiologists
- behaviour consultants
- counsellors
- dieticians
- infant development consultants
- nurses
- occupational therapists
- orthotists
- physicians
- physiotherapists
- program navigators (on behalf of a health professional)
- social workers
- speech language pathologists

Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island encourages families to access available public resources to complement Bear Essentials funding. The program is intended to fill gaps through a low-barrier, supportive, and dignified application process.

When a family's needs do not fit the Bear Essentials criteria, we are committed to offering navigation to relevant resources and supports. To explore navigation support, a referring professional can connect with a Program Navigator.

General guidelines

- Bear Essentials provides funds to support future costs of health-related travel and equipment. The program does not reimburse expenses incurred before an application was approved. In case of emergency travel, special consideration may be available.
- Health professionals may apply on behalf of families for both travel and equipment on one application.
- If there are multiple children in a family who require Bear Essentials support, a separate application is required for each child.
- Children may have more than one application submitted on their behalf during their lifetime and may be eligible for up to $12,500 in cumulative funding.
- All applications will be reviewed in consideration of the available program funding at the time of submission.
- If any parts of the application require further attention or information, a Program Navigator will contact the health professional and reach out to the family if appropriate.
- For travel funding, a document confirming appointments/treatments is required and should be uploaded through the online system. Documentation can also be sent later by email but may result in the application taking longer to process.
- Travel funding is intended to support one caregiver who is traveling with the child.
- Consent by the parent/guardian should accompany each application and may be provided by verbal confirmation, or the form can be printed, signed, and uploaded with the online application. Refer to Appendix C.
- Where appropriate, loan libraries will be recommended for short term equipment use or to trial equipment prior to purchase.
- Typically, funding will be paid to the vendor when accommodation or equipment is approved. The family, or the health professional acting on their behalf, is responsible for booking the accommodation and/or ordering the equipment. Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island is responsible for closing the transaction by paying the vendor.
- Typically, travel funding will be paid directly to the family by direct deposit.
- Applications will be reviewed as quickly as possible; however, the program is not set up to handle urgent requests where the funds are required immediately.
- Approved funds expire if not used within 3 months of the approval date and a new application will need to be submitted.
- Bear Essentials does not fund dental work, medication, consumables, safety equipment, and services such as therapies.

What we fund

Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island's Bear Essentials program is focused on health-related travel and equipment.

Health-related travel

Health professionals apply on behalf of families for funding to support travel within British Columbia when a child requires health care outside of their home community. Confirmed appointments and/or treatment within 30 days of the application date are acceptable.

Approved applicants will be provided with travel funding based on a calculation that accounts for the departure location, the intended destination, and the estimated duration of stay (Appendix D). The calculation accounts for round trips for the child and one caregiver. Approved travel funding is typically provided directly to the family shortly before their departure date and can be used to assist with costs such as gas, parking, meals, and incidentals. Bear Essentials funding isn't intended to cover the full cost families incur related to medical travel for their children. Families are expected to use the province's Travel Assistance Program for BC Ferries when eligibility requirements fit.

The following guidelines are specific to health-related travel:

- For families to receive funding prior to their travel, a completed application must be received a minimum of 10 business days to guarantee funding on time.
- Supports are available for prenatal conditions:
 - In the instance of a healthy pregnancy that requires temporary relocation for birthing support, funding is capped at $1,000 and families may re-apply with subsequent pregnancies.
 - If a pregnancy is defined as high-risk, expectant parents may have access to additional funding support up to $2500 depending on the length of time needing to medically be relocated.
 - Prenatal funding amounts are calculated as part of the child's lifetime summary of Bear Essentials funds.
- Travel support for regular, routine healthcare appointments such as dentistry, optometry or vaccinations will not be considered.
- For long-term medical stays, Bear Essentials will set up weekly or bi-weekly payments and request monthly check-ins with the referring professional. A new application will be requested at 3-month intervals.
- When travel is required out of province for a medical need unavailable within BC, applications will be reviewed on a case by case basis.

Health related accommodation

- Families are encouraged to use affordable and supportive home away from home resources such as Jeneece Place, Q̓walayu House, or Ronald McDonald House whenever they are available, including for prenatal relocation.
- Funding through the province's BC Family Residence Program is available for families when their child receives health care at BC Children's Hospital or Sunny Hill Health Centre.
- Hotel costs for all travel will be considered if the above options are unavailable to families. Please request a medical rate at the time of booking and email the booking confirmation to the Program Navigators. Approved accommodation expenses are paid directly to the vendor arranged by pre-authorized payment prior to check in. Contact a Program Navigator for a list of affordable hotel options if needed.

Health-related equipment

Health care professionals may apply on behalf of families for funding to support the purchase of health-related equipment. Families are encouraged to pursue the most cost-effective option that best meets the child/youth's health needs. Approved equipment expenses are typically paid directly to the vendor.

Types of eligible equipment include, but are not limited to:

- Medical equipment such as hearing aids, orthotics, or wheelchairs
- Adaptive equipment such as specialized seating or a standing frame
- Assistive technology hardware and software such as an iPad with special communication software for a non-verbal child. There is a requirement that the equipment has been successfully trialed prior to submitting a Bear Essentials application.

Complementary funding

The Bear Essentials program is intended to fill the gaps that exist within current health care programs. When public funding sources are not available, or only partially available for a child, Bear Essentials welcomes applications to fund the identified gap.

Bear Essentials funding isn't intended to cover the full cost families incur related to medical travel for their children. For lengthy, or complex medical travel, Bear Essentials may consider co-funding alongside other funders for families experiencing high financial stress. When applying, please clearly indicate how much funding has been, or is expected to be received for the duration of medical travel to enable the Program Navigators to assess the gap.

It is expected that families and referring professionals will source complementary funding for costly medical equipment. If complementary is not available, Bear Essentials may need to cap funding based on available funds at the time of the application.

Please refer to Appendix B for a list of available funding sources.

How to apply

1. Assess need and program fit

- Identify need for health-related travel or equipment support.
- Consider available public resources to address needs (Appendix B) and whether Bear Essentials is a fit.
- Introduce Bear Essentials to the family.
- Receive verbal permission or written consent from the family to proceed with an application.

2. Gather information

For privacy reasons, the online system does not have the ability to store information. Applications need to be completed in full at one time. Closing the online application prior to submitting will result in loss of data so it is recommended that all necessary information is gathered and accessible prior to starting an application.

- Work with the family to acquire the necessary information for a successful application (Appendix A). This may include connecting with equipment vendors for quotes/estimates, supporting the family to plan their health-related travel, helping the family get an appointment/treatment schedule, and gaining an understanding of funding confirmed from other sources.
- Connect with the Program Navigators as needed. Their role is to help you help families and to facilitate successful applications. Please reach out!

3. Complete online form and submit required documents

- Health professionals can access the online application here and reach out to a Program Navigator for the password.
- Upload required documents through the online system or send shortly after by email.

4. Application status

- You will receive an email confirming that the application was received. Please contact us if you don't receive confirmation immediately.
- All applications will be reviewed to determine suitability, and to prioritize need alongside available funding.
- If any parts of the application require further attention or information, a Program Navigator will contact the referring professional and reach out to the family when appropriate.
- Equipment applications will be reviewed on a weekly basis and may be deferred based on available funds.
- Final granting decisions will be communicated as quickly as possible to the health professional and the family.

5. Support family with acquisition

- The family or the referring professional is responsible for ordering equipment or booking accommodation. A Program Navigator will close the transaction by paying the vendor.
- If travel funding is approved, a Program Navigator will request banking information and arrange payment to the family.
- Bear Essentials will follow up with a short survey that will be emailed to the family. Participation in the survey is optional but it is appreciated to help assess and strengthen the Program.
