

Guidelines: Women's Institute Bursary

About the bursary

The BC Women's Institute was instrumental in establishing the Queen Alexandra Solarium in 1927. Today, Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island carries that legacy forward, supporting health care care journeys of Island kids and their families.

The Women's Institute's assistance to children with health challenges and disabilities through Children's Health Foundation has taken many forms. Their bursary program and generous donations continue the BCWI tradition of caring for children to ensure their healthy development.

The Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island Women's Institute Bursary is funded by an annual donation from the BCWI. The interest on the donation is available as a bursary (up to $2,000 per year) to Queen Alexandra Centre for Children staff members who provide services to children and who are advancing their knowledge in the care of children through continuing education. Bursaries are awarded every April in support of tuition fees or textbooks.

Applications for the bursary are reviewed by a selection committee comprised of:

- two appointees from a local BC Women's Institute branch;
- an Island Health representative who provides services to the Child, Youth and Family Health portfolio;
- a Children's Health Foundation of Vancouver Island representative.

Applications and supporting documents for the bursary must be received no later than March 31.
